

 Smithsonian Institution

in his own words:
a conversation with junot díaz

Friday, September 17, 2010

2pm – 3pm, Carmichael Auditorium

National Museum of American History

14th Street and Constitution Avenue NW, Washington, DC

This free public program is moderated by NPR journalist Felix Contreras and is organized in collaboration between the Congressional Hispanic Caucus Institute, the Smithsonian Latino Center, and the National Museum of American History.

It is part of a new initiative on the Dominican American experience.

Auditorium doors open 30 minutes before the program—arrive early to ensure a good seat!